

Skip Weisman
Building Your Championship Company

Keynote Speaking BIO

Professional Speaker BIO

(Below are three versions of Skip's speaker biography (250,150, and 75 words) to be used in marketing materials and on websites to promote your event. It is not to be used as the "speaker introduction" prior to Skip's presentation. You will be provided a custom "speaker introduction" based on the topic of Skip's program for your event)

250 Word BIO

Skip Weisman, a former professional baseball executive and a professional keynote speaker, business coach and consultant, works with business owners, CEOs, C-Level & VP level executive teams, and non-profit organization leaders, PLUS their employees to create Championship Company Cultures and work environments.

Skip provides clients inspiring, practical, state-of-the-art tips, tools, and techniques to transform workplace communication leading to more positive, more productive, and even more profitable organizations.

Skip served as CEO of 5 baseball franchises beginning at age 26. Skip's teams were affiliated with the Boston Red Sox, Cincinnati Reds, New York Mets, Seattle Mariners, Tampa Bay Ray, and Texas Rangers.

Beginning his leadership career at such a young age provided hard-learned lessons that have become the foundation for Skip's engaging, entertaining, educational presentations your organizational leaders can immediately apply.

Since 2012 Skip has spoken on dozens of main stages as a keynote speaker to audiences as large as 1,500 at association conferences and corporate events across North America.

Some client's include; The Project Management Institute, Society for Human Resource Management, Pink Elephant IT Service Management, HDI, and the Eleanor Roosevelt ECCEL Leadership Program, the Medical Group Management Association, Bayada Home Health Care and George Mason University.

Skip left his baseball career behind after the 2001 season for personal lifestyle reasons and settled with his wife, Anne Saylor, and their cat, Lynx, in the City of Poughkeepsie, NY.

Skip earned a B.S. Degree in Communication, and a Masters Degree in Sports Administration and Facility Management, from Ohio University.

Skip Weisman
Building Your Championship Company

Keynote Speaking BIO

150 Word BIO

Skip Weisman, a former professional baseball executive and a professional keynote speaker, business coach and consultant, works with business owners, CEOs, executive teams, and non-profit organization leaders, PLUS their employees to create Championship Company Cultures.

Skip served as CEO of 5 baseball franchises beginning at age 26. Skip's teams were affiliated with the Boston Red Sox, Cincinnati Reds, New York Mets, Seattle Mariners, Tampa Bay Ray, and Texas Rangers.

Beginning his leadership career at such a young age provided hard-learned lessons that are the foundation for Skip's engaging, entertaining, educational presentations your organizational leaders can immediately apply.

Since 2012 Skip has spoken on main stages as a keynote speaker to audiences as large as 1,500 at corporate and association conferences across North America. Some client's include; The Project Management Institute, Society for Human Resource Management, Pink Elephant IT Service Management, HDI, the Medical Group Management Association, and George Mason University.

75 Word BIO

Skip Weisman, a former professional baseball executive and a professional keynote speaker and business coach, works with organizational leaders to create Championship Company Cultures.

Skip was CEO for 5 baseball franchises, including teams affiliated with the Boston Red Sox, Cincinnati Reds, New York Mets, among others, beginning at age 26.

Since 2012 Skip has spoken on main stages as a keynote speaker to audiences as large as 1,500 at corporate and association conferences across North America.